Executive Summary

The Missouri Judicial System

That the courts of justice shall be open to every person and certain remedy afforded for every injury to person, property or character, and that right and justice shall be administered without sale, denial or delay.

Article I, Section 14
Constitution of Missouri

The Missouri Constitution organizes the judicial system into three tiers. The Supreme Court is the state's highest court, with statewide jurisdiction. The Court of Appeals, Missouri's intermediate appellate court, consists of three districts with general appellate jurisdiction in all cases not within the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. The third tier is a Circuit Court, divided into 44 circuits, with original jurisdiction over all cases and matters, civil and criminal.

The Supreme Court

The Missouri Constitution gives the Supreme Court both mandatory and discretionary jurisdiction. Article V, Section 3, provides that:

The supreme court shall have exclusive appellate jurisdiction in all cases involving the validity of a treaty or statute of the United States, or of a statute or provision of the constitution of this state, the construction of the revenue laws of this state, the title to any state office and in all cases where the punishment imposed is death.

The Court may order cases transferred to it from the Court of Appeals; it may also agree to accept cases that the Court of Appeals has requested be transferred due to general interest, the importance of the questions involved, or to reexamine existing law. In addition, cases pending in the state's intermediate appellate court are transferred to the Supreme Court when any participating appellate judge dissents from the majority opinion and certifies that he deems that opinion to be contrary to any previous decision of the Supreme Court or of the Court of Appeals.

Prior to 1972, the Supreme Court had jurisdiction in all criminal felony appeals. At present, most felony appeals go to the Court of Appeals. The Supreme Court's jurisdiction over these cases is largely in the nature of certiorari.

The Court also hears cases involving issues that can be brought directly to the Supreme Court instead of through the lower courts. These include writs of prohibition, mandamus, and habeas corpus. In addition to its decision-making powers, the Court promulgates rules of practice and procedure for all Missouri courts, prescribes the form and content of instructions to the jury, licenses all lawyers practicing in Missouri, and disciplines lawyers for violations of the code of ethics.

There are seven judges on the Supreme Court. One judge serves as chief justice for a two-year term with selection typically rotated among the judges.

The Court of Appeals

The court of appeals shall have general appellate jurisdiction in all cases except those within the exclusive jurisdiction of the supreme court.

Article V, Section 3
Constitution of Missouri

Missouri's intermediate appellate structure of one court divided into three districts was established in 1970 by constitutional amendment. The three districts are situated at St. Louis, Kansas City, and Springfield. By law, the Southern District, situated in Springfield, also holds sessions in Poplar Bluff. Each district of the Court of Appeals may sit in divisions, composed of at least three judges, determined by the judges of that district. The orders, judgments, and decrees of a majority of the judges of any division have the force and effect of those of the full court.

There are 32 judges on the Court of Appeals. Each district selects a chief judge who serves for an amount of time determined by court rule.

The Circuit Court

The circuit courts shall have original jurisdiction over all other cases and matters, civil and criminal. Such courts may issue and determine original remedial writs and shall sit at times and places within the circuit as determined by the circuit court.

Article V, Section 14 (a)
Constitution of Missouri

The Circuit Court is the state's trial court or court of general jurisdiction. There are 44 circuits, comprised of from one to five counties. St. Louis City constitutes one of the 44 circuits. Each circuit has at least one circuit judge. Each county, pursuant to Article V, Section 16, has at least one associate circuit judge. At present, there are 133 circuit judges and 170 associate circuit judges. One circuit judge in each circuit serves as presiding judge, with administrative responsibilities. While most circuit judges are elected, the Nonpartisan Court Plan, adopted as an amendment to the constitution in 1940, provides for the nonpartisan appointment of Supreme Court and Court of Appeals judges, as well as Circuit Court judges in the City of St. Louis and Jackson County. The plan has been extended by popular election in St. Louis County, Clay County, Platte County and, by charter, to Kansas City municipal court judges. A total of 68 circuit judges and 34 associate circuit judges are selected under provisions of the Nonpartisan Court Plan.

The Circuit Court is organized into divisions: circuit, associate, juvenile, municipal, and probate. Each division hears and decides different classes of cases within its jurisdiction.

The circuit divisions handle felony cases after the preliminary hearing; civil cases where the amount of money involved exceeds $15,000; misdemeanor and municipal jury trials; trials de novo on municipal cases, civil cases under $5,000 and small claims cases; administrative review cases; condemnations; extraordinary remedy cases such as habeas corpus and injunctions; motions for post conviction relief; and domestic relations cases.

The associate divisions hear traffic cases, misdemeanors, infractions, and felony preliminaries, civil matters under $15,000, and matters filed in small claims courts as prescribed in Chapter 482 of Missouri's revised statutes. Associate circuit judges may also hear municipal ordinance violations in municipalities that have less than 400,000 people and have no municipal judge. (Municipalities with populations of 400,000 or more must provide for a legally trained municipal judge.) In a small number of locations, associate judges also hear county ordinance violations.

Pursuant to Article V, Section 17, associate judges may be assigned to handle any type of case; as a result, these judges are disposing an ever-increasing number of what were traditionally considered circuit judge matters. Some of the matters commonly handled by the associate judges in certain circuits are non-contested dissolutions, adult abuse cases, and change of name cases. Some associate judges hear all or nearly all of the juvenile cases in their counties. Additionally, associate judges are, with increasing frequency, being assigned to hear cases in other counties within the circuit.

The juvenile divisions of the Circuit Court serve persons under 17 years of age who are victims of abuse or neglect, who have violated state laws or municipal ordinances, who are status offenders, or who are the subject of adoption. Proceedings to terminate parental rights are also handled in the juvenile divisions.

Municipal divisions handle municipal traffic and other ordinance violations.

The probate divisions of the Circuit Court administer deceased persons' estates, the estates of those who are incapacitated or disabled, the estates of minors, and certain mental health proceedings.

Most of the nonjudicial staff for the Circuit Court is comprised of state-paid clerks. With minor exceptions, there is one elected circuit clerk in each county. The exceptions are Marion County, where two circuit clerks are elected; St. Louis County, where the circuit clerk is appointed; and Jackson County, where a court administrator is appointed in lieu of a circuit clerk. Circuit clerks and their staffs are responsible for the clerical aspects of court case processing. In most counties, the circuit clerk's staff, appointed by the circuit clerk, has responsibility for what have traditionally been considered circuit judge or circuit division cases. Most associate judges, and all circuit judges who handle probate matters, appoint and supervise their own clerks. In a number of counties however, the clerical staff of the associate judges have been combined with that of the circuit clerk, providing one pool of clerical personnel to process all civil, criminal, and juvenile cases. In addition to the responsibilities mentioned previously, a large part of the circuit clerks' workload involves the collection and disbursement of child support monies.

Child support-related responsibilities have grown astronomically in recent years. Collection enforcement tools, such as income withholding, tax refund and lottery intercepts, and property attachments that have been authorized by the General Assembly, have led to enormous increases in child support collections. Not only has the number of cases increased, but time spent on each has escalated. This results in large part from the federally mandated reporting requirements attached to cases which fall under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act. Another element in the workload is the reality that, whereas a civil or criminal case is processed, heard, and disposed within a relatively short time period, when a circuit clerk is made trustee for purposes of collecting child support, the workload often involves weekly or monthly installment payments over a period of 18 years or more.

The workload of the clerks has increased in other ways as well. Adult abuse and small claims cases are instances where access to the courts is available without benefit of an attorney. As a result, these cases make greater demands on a clerk's time than some others, and require a higher level of job skills. In each case, clerks are required to "walk through" the filing procedure with the individual. In adult abuse cases, this often means spending a great deal of time with someone who is experiencing a severe personal crisis.

The Year In Review

The accomplishments of the Missouri judiciary detailed in the forthcoming pages are a tribute to the determination and hard work of the judges, clerks, and administrative personnel of the courts. Despite growing caseloads and fiscal constraints, the Missouri courts not only provided an accessible and equitable system of justice, but, by reducing their pending caseloads and the length of time on appeal, one that fulfills the constitutional mandate to provide justice "without...delay."

> The legislative power shall be vested in a senate and house of representatives to be styled "The General Assembly of the State of Missouri."
> Article III, Section 1
> Constitution of Missouri

In any given year, new legislation has a major impact on the workings of the courts. In FY 1990, several bills were passed which either changed judicial procedures or increased the workload of the courts. In particular, HB 2, passed during the special session, which mandates the use of child support guidelines and HB 3, also passed during the special session which provides for expungement of alcohol-related traffic violations after ten years if there have not been other similar violations during that period; SB 558 which permits certain court proceedings to be conducted by closed circuit television in certain counties; SB 567 which requires the Department of Revenue to suspend the driver's license for failure to appear or to pay costs and fines on state traffic offenses; SB 834 which makes numerous changes in the child support statutes; HB 1105 which allows third class and other counties to charge a law library fee on Chapter 517 cases; and HB 1370 which contains numerous provisions relating to crimes against children will continue to have an impact on the judiciary.

The Judicial Conference, meeting in September, passed several resolutions in support of specific legislative initiatives, including legislation to require the Department of Revenue to collect the county of residence of all vehicle operator licenses and make that information available to the courts for jury selection purposes; to provide a statewide system for certification of the qualifications of those issuing bail bonds; to provide adequate compensation and clerical staff for the judicial department; and to create statewide court automation.

> The Supreme Court may establish rules relating to practice, procedure and pleading for all courts and administrative tribunals, which shall have the force and effect of law.
> Article V, Section 5
> Constitution of Missouri

In FY 1990, in addition to numerous rule changes, the Supreme Court promulgated two new rules, described below.

Rule 17 - Voluntary Early Dispute Resolution, was adopted November 30, 1989. This rule allows judicial circuits to establish an early dispute resolution program, the purpose being to "foster early, economical, fair and voluntary settlement of lawsuits."

Rule 88.01 - Presumed Child Support Amount, was adopted October 2, 1989. This rule sets out the factors to be considered when determining the amount of child support. Included are the financial needs and resources of the child and parents, standard of living, physical and emotional condition of the child, and his educational needs. A work sheet for calculating the amount and a schedule for determining the basic obligation are provided. Adoption of this rule culminated the work of a special committee appointed by Chief Justice Charles Blackmar, comprised of Judge Andrew Jackson Higgins, Chair; Nannette Laughrey; Michael R. Henry; Elizabeth Davis; Judge John E. Parrish; Judge Susan Block; and Judge C. William Kramer.

Financial Information

For fiscal year 1990, the state expended over $4 billion from General Revenue for the operation of Missouri government. Of that amount, approximately $68.6 million, 1.7 percent of the total state budget, was disbursed to the judiciary. Approximately $65.4 million, 95 percent of judicial expenditures, was for personnel costs with the remainder allocated for operating expenses and equipment. Local governments bear almost all of the expenses and equipment costs for the circuit courts.

Approximately $17 million was collected by the judiciary and submitted to the Missouri Department of Revenue from filing, transcription, and court reporter fees, Crime Victims' Compensation Act judgments, prosecuting attorneys' training fund collections, and other monies. In addition, monies were collected for deposit in the Sheriffs' Retirement Fund, for law libraries, for local school districts, and for various other county funds.

Through efforts of the clerks, the amount of federal reimbursement to state General Revenue for work performed on child support in FY 1990 was $1,479,517.

There were more than 51,000 Crime Victims' Compensation judgments entered against defendants sentenced to prison, receiving a suspended imposition of sentence, sentenced to pay a fine, or placed under the supervision of the State Board of Probation and Parole or a county probation officer. Disbursements to the Crime Victims' Compensation Fund totaled $3,858,991, an increase of $990,037 (35 percent) compared to the previous fiscal year.

Workload Management Across the State

The increasing workload of the courts, coupled with an inadequate number of clerical personnel to handle that workload, has challenged the judiciary to maintain an efficient and responsive judicial system. Technology is being utilized to revolutionize the operations of the courts, improve efficiency, better cope with growing caseloads, and provide more prompt and accurate answers to many inquiries from users of the courts. For example, Jackson County, which comprises the 16th Judicial Circuit, began using an automated telephone response system to answer incoming queries regarding child support. The court has logged as many as 26,000 calls a month, 24 hours a day, handled by computer rather than personnel of the court.

In recent years the Supreme Court, through the Courts Administrator's Office, has developed and installed numerous computer systems designed to alleviate the clerical workload of the courts. In December, 1989, the Supreme Court established a committee on judicial automation. The goal of this committee is to improve service to the public and reduce costs through implementation of modern computer capabilities.

Implementation of a previously created statewide court automation plan continued in a number of areas. This plan calls for the development of an integrated case management system for the courts. This year, enhancements were made to the Automated Child Support Trustee System (ACSTS) with developments in networking capabilities, increases in the number of records that could be stored before archiving is required, and expansions to the accounting functions. As of June, 1990, 107 circuit clerk offices were using the ACSTS.

System installation, maintenance, and development also continued in the areas of jury selection, judgment index, traffic record keeping, associate division criminal case management, and automated Statewide Judicial Information System (SWJIS) reporting. As of June 1, 1990, 79 courts used the jury selection system; 53 had requested the judgment index system; 18 were using the automated traffic record keeping system; 7 were testing the associate division criminal case management system; and 36 had requested the automated SWJIS reporting system, which uses a hand-held bar code scanner and relies on data transmission via diskette or modem.

Staff of the Courts Administrator's Office and the Boone County Circuit Court continued to collaborate on a federally funded project for the development of an automated criminal case management system. Courts Administrator staff are developing the case management and accounting system for the associate and circuit divisions of the court; eventual implementation throughout the state is planned. After implementation of the criminal system, data processing staff will work to develop and implement a civil case management system. The civil and criminal systems will provide an integrated package which will handle file maintenance, calendaring, accounting, and management and operational reports. This system will eventually "phase out" the associate case processing system currently in use.

Changes In Caseload Reporting

Chapter 517 RSMo., 1989 Supp., lists those civil cases typically heard by an associate circuit judge, to which certain procedures apply. Effective July 1, 1989, courts began to report detailed case information for Chapter 517 civil and small claims cases. In the past these cases were labelled "associate civil" cases; summary data on cases filed and disposed was the only information reported. For courts operating manually, detailed reporting is accomplished through a specially designed multi-part docket sheet, largely as a by-product of the court's regular record keeping.

Effective January, 1990, courts began to report detailed case information for felony preliminary and misdemeanor cases, matters which in the past were reported on a summary basis only. A multi-part docket sheet is used by those offices not capturing caseload information electronically.

The availability of management information as well as more complete and accurate statistics are seen as major advantages of detailed reporting.

Judicial Transfers

Article V, Section 6, of Missouri's Constitution, states:

> The Supreme Court may make temporary transfers of judicial personnel from one court or district to another as the administration of justice requires.

Reasons for judicial transfer may include judge disqualification, illness, vacant office or heavy caseload. As noted in previous annual reports, Missouri continues to experience significant changes in population density in many regions of the state as some of the rural counties lose population and some of the suburban counties gain. These population changes continue to provide a challenge for the Supreme Court as it temporarily transfers judicial resources from areas of low caseloads to areas of high caseloads to deal with the resulting workload imbalance. The judges transferred included 116 judges who volunteered whole periods of time for service in another circuit. Of these, 30 volunteered more than two weeks. This service frequently involves significant travel and lengthy stays away from home and family. In FY 1990, the transfers and assignments reported above resulted in a total of 768 additional judge days, or the equivalent of 3.5 man years of service provided to metropolitan circuit courts by out-state and senior judges. Following are the circuit and associate judges who were assigned 15 or more transfers by the Supreme Court. The assignments refer to a case assignment or an assignment for a period of time. Included are:

James P. Anderton
Kenton G. Askren
David E. Bailey

William Rex Beavers
Ronald M. Belt
James N. Bradley, Jr.
Thomas J. Brown, III
Henry C. Copeland
James N. Foley

George J. Pruneau
Gary Schmidt
Patricia F. Scott

In addition, to handle circuit division workloads in a more timely fashion, associate circuit judges disposed 43 percent (54,587 cases) of circuit level cases. Authority for the associate judges to handle this caseload is by order of the Supreme Court, by assignment of the presiding judge or by local court rule.

On both the appellate and circuit court level, the use of senior judges helps the courts deal with the rapidly growing caseload. Article V, Section 26 of the Missouri Constitution provides that any retired judge, with his consent, may be assigned by the Supreme Court as a senior judge to any court in the state. For the 1990 fiscal year, the Supreme Court entered 72 orders, involving 19 senior judges. These judges were assigned to 4 cases in the Court of Appeals and 36 cases in the Circuit Court, several involving lengthy litigation. Assignments for periods of time totaled 274 days to the Court of Appeals and 215 days to the Circuit Court.

Senate Bill 425, an omnibus judicial bill passed in 1988, contained a provision permitting senior judges to accrue service credit for retirement purposes. Each month the Courts Administrator's Office is required to certify to the Missouri State Employee's Retirement System the period of service reported by each senior judge who has not yet qualified for full retirement benefits.

Judge Changes

Several judges were appointed to the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals, and Circuit Court benches to replace judges who had resigned, retired, or died.

One appointment was made to the Supreme Court. Judge John C. Holstein was sworn in on October 18, 1989. Previously, he was on the Court of Appeals in the Southern District.

Two appointments were made to the Court of Appeals. Judge John E. Parrish was appointed on January 9, 1990 to replace Judge John C. Holstein in the Southern District and Judge Kenneth W. Shrum was appointed on May 9, 1990 to replace Douglas W. Greene, also in the Southern District.

There were eight appointments made in the Circuit Court. Judge Michael L. Midyett replaced Judge George Thompson as associate circuit judge in the 9th Circuit; Judge Preston Dean, II replaced Judge Timothy D. O'Leary as circuit judge in the 16th Circuit; Judge Robert L. Carr replaced Judge Larry J. Casey as associate circuit judge in the 24th Circuit; Judge Jack A. Bennett replaced Judge James A. Franklin as associate circuit judge in the 26th Circuit; Judge James A. Franklin replaced Judge John E. Parrish as circuit judge, also in the 26th Circuit; Judge J. Miles Sweeney replaced Judge J. A. Applequist as circuit judge in the 31st Circuit; Judge Perry J. Rhew replaced Judge Charles H. Baker as associate circuit judge in the 35th Circuit; Judge Scott Sifferman replaced Judge Robert McPherson as associate circuit judge in the 39th Circuit.

In addition, Judge Mary Dickerson became the first woman presiding judge, succeeding Judge John E. Parrish in the 26th Circuit.

The Supreme Court

Workload

A total of 1,637 matters were filed in the Supreme Court, up 72 compared with the previous fiscal year. This year's total is comprised of 76 direct appeals; 278 writs, the most in three years; 655 transfer cases; 47 Bar and judiciary matters, and 581 motions and miscellaneous matters.

The Court disposed 1,621 matters, an increase of 90 over the number disposed in FY 1989.

Figure 1

Supreme Court
Cases Submitted and Disposed
by Opinion or Order
FY 1990

Unlike the Court of Appeals and Circuit Court which are required to hear cases presented to them, the Supreme Court has both mandatory and discretionary jurisdiction over its workload. It must hear the mandatory cases, which include direct appeals, applications for writs of habeas corpus, certain transfers, Bar and judiciary matters, motions, and miscellaneous matters. The Court determines in a separate proceeding which of the discretionary jurisdiction cases it will accept for hearing.

The total of 1,637 actions filed this year is comprised of 828 mandatory jurisdiction matters and 809 discretionary jurisdiction cases. These figures compare to 708 mandatory and 857 discretionary jurisdiction matters filed last year.

For consistency with the analysis prepared the past two years, the remainder of this section focuses on case types rather than jurisdiction.

Appeals

Seventy-six direct appeals were filed, down 10 from the previous year. The most notable change was in the number of death penalty cases, which decreased from 26 in 1989 to 18 this year. Appeals of revenue laws totaled 33, comparable to the 32 cases filed in the two previous years. While the number of appeals involving other matters was down slightly from 1989, it exceeded the figure for 1988.

Though filings decreased, appeal dispositions by the Court rose substantially. Ninety-seven direct appeals were disposed, a 20 percent increase (16 cases) over 1989 and a 62 percent increase (37 cases) over 1988. Again, the greatest change was in the number of death penalty cases--30 cases were disposed compared to 17 cases disposed in 1989 and 16 cases disposed in 1988.

Increases also occurred in the number of appeals submitted and in the number disposed by opinion. A total of 65 appeals were submitted, the highest number in the last three years and 20 more than in 1989. Almost 60 direct appeals were disposed by opinion, considerably higher than the 43 appeals disposed by opinion last year and the 42 appeals disposed by opinion two years ago.

Writs

The number of writs filed rose for the second consecutive year. This year's total of 278 writs exceeded last year's filings by 9 percent (24 writs). The greatest change was in the number of habeas corpus writs, up from 71 last year to 99 in FY 1990. Unlike other types of writs which fall under the discretionary jurisdiction of the Court, the habeas corpus writ must be granted unless it appears that no relief is warranted.

The Court granted the application for the original writ in 12 cases. It disposed 277 writs, denying the application in 259 of these matters. Seven cases were disposed by opinion while two were disposed by order and nine were disposed in a summary manner.

Applications to Transfer

A total of 655 transfer cases were filed; this compares to just over 700 cases filed last year and 778 cases filed in 1988. Despite the decrease, the number of applications granted has remained constant at about 63 cases.

Both the applications granted and the transfers from the Court of Appeals must be disposed in the same manners as the direct appeals. This year 57 cases were disposed by opinion, 21 were disposed by order, and 18 were disposed summarily.

Bar and Judiciary Matters

Eighteen attorney disciplinary actions were filed this year. In addition, the Court received four petitions alleging the unauthorized practice of law and 24 motions for license surrender or reinstatement to the Bar. One case involving the retention, removal or discipline of a judge was initiated.

The Court disposed 47 Bar and judiciary matters, the same number as were filed. It granted 18 requests for license reinstatement or surrender; two of the requests were denied. Seven matters were disposed by opinion and one was by order. Nineteen cases received a summary disposition.

Motions and Miscellaneous Matters

Motion filings were up 18 percent (85 motions) compared to last year while dispositions increased 21 percent (88 motions). This year's total of 560 motions filed included 60 motions for rehearing, 12 motions for recall of the mandate, 16 motions for a stay of execution, and 472 miscellaneous motions. The Court ruled on 514 motions, 92 percent of the number filed.

A total of 21 miscellaneous matters were also filed this year. Seventeen such matters were disposed.

Administrative Activities

The chief justice of the supreme court shall be the chief administrative officer of the judicial system and, subject to the supervisory authority of the supreme court, shall supervise the administration of the courts of this state.

Article V, Section 8
Constitution of Missouri

The responsibility of the Chief Justice is shared with the other Supreme Court judges and administered in three specific ways: through the establishment of various judicial committees, through the promulgation of court rules, and through direction to the State Courts Administrator and the Clerk of the Court.

The committees and commissions of the judiciary play a vital role in the effective operation of Missouri's courts. The Judicial Education Committee sponsors sessions that provide continuing education. Two trial colleges were presented and a program on death penalty trials was held. The committee also completed work on the development and publication of a civil benchbook.

The Subcommittee on Training and Certification of Municipal Judges reviews, recommends, and administers the certification course for nonlawyer municipal judges and develops and offers continuing education programs. Two certification courses were held in FY 1990, and twelve nonlawyer municipal judges were certified. One hundred thirty-three municipal judges attended continuing education programs.

The Presiding Judges' Executive Committee sponsored two meetings for presiding judges that focused on legislation, FAX transmissions, statewide automation, the "Children First" program, judicial transfers, bench/press relations, the Judicial Finance Commission, SB 439, and a program on planning for new facilities.

The Committee on Jury Instructions-Criminal approved a series of jury instruction revisions that included those relating to homicides, offenses against the person, offenses against the family, stealing and related offenses, offenses against the administration of justice, controlled substances, and gambling.

The Committee on Jury Instructions-Civil revised a series of instructions including those relating to verdict directing and comparative fault.

The State Judicial Records Committee approved associate division reporting forms for use in the courts; recommended substantial changes to the filing of discovery documents; and approved several new systems, including a bar code system, jury selection system, and associate case management system.

The FAX Committee, after study of the present and possible uses of FAX machines in the circuit and appellate courts, recommended a series of Supreme Court Rule changes to prescribe FAX machine use in the courts. The committee also explored the use of FAX machines to obtain search warrants.

The Judicial Finance Commission provides a forum for the resolution of budget disputes between counties and their respective circuit courts. Under Section 477.600, RSMo., the county governing body can petition the Judicial Finance Commission to review the budget request of the circuit court. Provision is made for the Commission to refuse to review a petition where the percentage increase of the judicial budget is equal to or less than the percentage increase of the county government budget or where four members vote to reject consideration of the case. When a petition is accepted, the Commission is required to hold a settlement conference in an informal effort to resolve the dispute. If necessary, it will hold a hearing and issue a written opinion, stating its conclusions as to the reasonableness of the circuit court budget request. Upon receipt of the written opinion or upon refusal of the Commission to accept the petition, the circuit court or the county governing body can seek a review by the Supreme Court. During FY 1990 the Commission received two budget dispute petitions, provided assistance to several counties which were experiencing some difficulties but did not file petitions, and responded to questions from numerous other counties relating to budgeting and negotiation matters.

The Circuit Court Budget Committee oversees the Circuit Court Personnel System for 1,593 positions (1478.1000 FTE) and allocates state Circuit Court budget appropriations. In FY 1990, the Committee provided general maintenance to Administrative Rule 7; reviewed and decided 244 personnel matters; authorized and monitored the review and classification audit of 783 classified Circuit Court positions; reviewed and rendered decisions on 63 Circuit Court budget requests for additional staffing for the FY 1991 budget; and reviewed employee dismissal and grievance actions on appeal from circuit courts.

In addition to the Court's committees, associations of judges, clerks, and the Bar worked to improve the quality and efficiency of Missouri's courts. The annual meeting of the Association of Probate and Associate Circuit Judges in April included programs on changes in probate law, civil procedure, court automation, ethical considerations in cases involving refusal of medical treatment, practical skills in jury trials, and a legislative update. The Circuit Clerks and Recorders Association annual meeting, held in September, included a session on Employee Evaluation and Discipline/Assertiveness and an address on "Humor in the Workplace." The Judicial Article Review Commission, a special commission of the Missouri Bar, presented the final draft of its report on proposed judicial article revisions to the Board of Governors of the Missouri Bar.

As chief administrative officer of the Supreme Court, the Chief Justice's responsibilities have evolved to encompass a multitude of duties. The Chief Justice serves as general liaison to the legislature, executive branch, and Missouri Bar, and is the contact person for those citizens and organizations seeking information or a speaker. He chairs the Judicial Conference, serves as Missouri's representative at the Conference of Chief Justices and is on the Appellate Judicial Commission.

The executive duties of the Chief Justice include responding to administrative questions that arise within the Supreme Court as well as other state courts; and attending to personnel matters, internal budget considerations and the Court's physical plant. He is responsible, along with other members of the Court, for final approval of the budget for the judiciary. The Chief Justice is selected by the court en banc and, traditionally, serves for a term of two years. On July 1, 1990, Judge Charles B. Blackmar began the second half of his term as chief justice.

Workload

Filings, which include appeals, writs, and motions set a new record for the third consecutive year. The Court received more than 15,600 matters for consideration, an increase of 814 (6 percent) over last year's total. Numbers of writs and motions were at their highest levels; total appeals filings were the second highest in ten years.

Case dispositions and numbers of opinions were at all-time highs. The Court disposed a slightly larger number of cases than were filed (3,568 appeals and writs disposed compared to 3,565 filed), reducing its pending caseload. Opinions handed down increased by more than 200 (11 percent) compared to last year. This year's total of 2,029 opinions increases the average number per judge from 57 in FY 1989 to 63 this year.

The Appellate Court employs several procedures developed to expedite the hearing process for its large number of cases. These include the use of settlement conferences wherein the parties in all civil cases are required to attend a pre-submission conference conducted by a judge of the court. In addition, the Court hears cases in locations other than where the court routinely sits for the convenience of the Bar and the public.

Appeals

Appeal filings in Missouri's intermediate appellate court totaled 3,025. In only one other year (FY 1989) did the number of appeals top the 3,000 mark. Included in this year's total are 2,272 civil appeals, the second largest number ever, and 753 criminal appeals, up 8 percent compared to last year.

Totaling 3,041, there were more appeals disposed than in any previous year. The number, comprised of 2,401 civil appeals and 640 criminal appeals, exceeded last year's record by more than 150 dispositions (5 percent).

Figure 4

Court of Appeals
Appeals, Writs and Motions Filed
FY 1980 - FY 1990

More than 1,900 appeal cases were submitted, the highest number to date. An impressive 1,884 of the appeals were disposed by opinion, including 1,407 (59 percent) of the civil appeals and 477 (75 percent) of the criminal appeals.

The year ended with 2,742 appeals pending, down from 2,758 appeals pending when the year began. Despite the increase in the pending criminal caseload (up from 820 to 933 by June 30), there was a substantial decrease in the number of civil appeals pending. The 1,809 civil cases pending at year's end is 129 (7 percent) fewer than the pending beginning figure.

Court of Appeals
Appeals Disposed by Manner of Disposition
FY 1990

Total Disposed
3,041

Writs

Totaling 540, this year's number of writ filings is unsurpassed. The figure, which includes 286 writs of prohibition, 158 writs of mandamus, and 91 writs of habeas corpus, is 18 percent higher than last year. The greatest change was in the number of habeas corpus writs, up 69 percent (37 cases) compared to FY 1989.

The increase in filings was followed by a comparable increase in dispositions, and the number disposed, 527, was a new record.

There were 47 pending writ cases at the end of the year.

Motions

The Court was asked to consider 12,047 motions, an increase of 908 motions (8 percent) over last year. It ruled on 11,785 motions, 98 percent of the number filed.

The Circuit Court

Workload

Case filings in the Circuit Court totaled 856,928; this number is within 1 percent of the number filed last year and of the record filings reported for FY 1988. There were 811,972 cases disposed, resulting in a disposition to filing ratio of 0.95. More than 1,700 cases were disposed by jury trial.

Record numbers of civil, criminal, and juvenile cases were filed and more domestic relations, criminal, and juvenile cases were disposed than in any previous year. The most notable area of decrease was in the number of traffic cases which declined for the third consecutive year.

The pending caseload grew by 8 percent (44,956 cases), from about 556,000 cases at the beginning of the year to some 600,000 cases when the year ended. The number of pending civil cases increased 10 percent (19,738 cases), to total 218,569 cases. There was a 14 percent increase in the number of pending criminal cases, including felonies, felony preliminaries, and misdemeanor cases. The year started with 125,348 criminal cases pending; by the end of the year, the number had grown to 143,517 cases.

Civil

More than a quarter of a million civil cases were filed this year, continuing the upward trend in civil case filings. Included in the total are 38,514 general civil cases; 69,575 domestic relations cases; 119,245 Chapter 517 cases; and 23,063 small claims cases. Filings of general civil cases were up more than 10 percent (3,594 cases) compared with FY 1989, and the number of domestic relations cases surpassed the previous year's record by 7 percent (4,568 cases).

The data suggests that Chapter 517 case filings were at their lowest level in three years and were down 4 percent compared to last year. This is not in keeping with the overall civil trend and the growth in the Chapter 517 caseload over the past seven years. To what extent a change in reporting may have contributed to the lower number is not known. This is the first year that case by case information was provided for Chapter 517 and small claims cases; only summary data was reported in the past.

Circuit Court
Civil Cases
Filed, Disposed, and Pending
FY 1986 - FY 1990

The number of small claims filings was the second highest ever, and was within 2 percent of last year's record.

Civil dispositions were within 1 percent of the all-time high reported for 1989. The total of 230,659 cases disposed this year is comprised of 35,467 general civil cases; 64,267 domestic relations cases; 109,815 Chapter 517 cases; and 21,110 small claims cases. Change from the previous year was most significant for domestic relations cases. In the last five years (FY 1985 through FY 1989), the number of domestic relations case dispositions has increased gradually, with annual case closings ranging from 54,086 to 58,820. This year's total reflects an increase of 9 percent (5,447 cases) over last year.

Compared with last year, general civil case dispositions were down 3 percent (1,238 cases). Dispositions for this case type have fluctuated over the past five years, but have stayed within a range of roughly 35,000 to 37,000 cases.

Dispositions of Chapter 517 cases, like filings, were down from last year. Again, the change in method of reporting may be at least partially responsible for the apparent decrease.

Small claims case dispositions were consistent with last year.

The courts achieved a disposition to filing ratio of 0.92 for all major civil case types. This ratio was up from last year for domestic relations and small claims cases, both of which achieved a disposition to filing ratio of 0.90 for FY 1989.

A total of 908 civil cases were disposed by jury trial, up from the 834 cases disposed by jury last year. Sixty-one of the cases disposed by jury this year involved Chapter 517 cases.

A judgment by the court was rendered in 142,627 civil cases, 62 percent of the total disposed. An additional 82,903 cases (36 percent of the total) were dismissed.

The dispositional pattern for general civil cases was somewhat different than for the other case types. Thirty-eight percent of the general civil cases were disposed through judgment. This compares to 69 percent of the domestic relations cases, 65 percent of the Chapter 517 cases, and 63 percent of the small claims cases. In addition, while dismissals accounted for approximately one-third of the domestic relations, Chapter 517, and small claims dispositions, 54 percent of the general civil cases were dismissed.

The year ended with 218,569 civil cases pending, a 10 percent increase over the number pending when the year began. The number of general civil cases grew 7 percent, from 45,733 cases at the beginning of the year to 48,780 cases by June 30. The pending caseload for domestic relations cases increased 12 percent (5,308 cases) to stand at 49,388 when the fiscal year closed. At the same time there was a 10 percent increase in the number of pending Chapter 517 cases and a rise of 16 percent in the small claims pending caseload. These two case types ended the year with 105,976 and 14,425 pending cases, respectively.

While for the state as a whole there was an increase in the number of pending civil cases, several counties and circuits achieved a reduction in their pending balances. The total of all pending civil cases was reduced in 18 counties and 6 circuits. In addition, 50 counties and 14 circuits disposed more general civil cases than were filed, resulting in fewer pending cases at the end than at the beginning of the year. Twenty-seven counties and 3 circuits managed to reduce the number of pending domestic relations cases; 31 counties and 9 circuits had fewer pending Chapter 517 cases at year's end; and 22 counties and 8 circuits cut their numbers of pending small claims cases.

Criminal

Criminal case filings and dispositions were at their highest levels ever. This year's total of 154,804 cases filed surpasses last year's number by 9,217 cases (6 percent) and the number filed five years ago by almost 44,000 cases (40 percent). Included in this year's total filings are 22,869 felony cases (up 1,767 cases or 8 percent from last year); 37,311 felony preliminary cases (up 555 cases or 2 percent from last year); and 94,624 misdemeanor cases (up 6,895 or 8 percent from last year).

Circuit Court
Criminal Cases
Filed, Disposed, and Pending
FY 1986 - FY 1990

Criminal case dispositions totaled 136,635, an increase of about 3,400 cases (3 percent) compared to last year. These dispositions are comprised of 20,321 felony cases; 33,758 felony preliminaries; and 82,556 misdemeanors. Dispositions were up for all case types over last year--the number of felonies disposed increased by 380 cases (2 percent); felony preliminary dispositions rose 298 cases (1 percent); and misdemeanor case dispositions exceeded last year's number by 2,734 cases (3 percent).

A total of 829 criminal cases were disposed by jury trial, comparable to the number disposed by jury trial in FY 1989. Dispositions by court trial accounted for another 4,797 dispositions.

By far the greatest proportion of felony cases were disposed by guilty plea. This year, nearly three of every four felonies disposed (14,922 cases) were by plea. The state dismissed the charges in 2,010 felony cases, accounting for 10 percent of the dispositions.

Fifty-seven percent of the defendants in felony preliminary cases were bound over for arraignment and trial. In approximately one-third of the felony preliminaries the charges were dismissed, and in 13 percent of the cases the defendant pleaded guilty to a reduced charge.

More than two-thirds of all misdemeanors (56,031 cases) were disposed by guilty plea. Dismissals by state or by court, which accounted for 25 percent (21,008 cases) of the dispositions, comprised the next largest category. There were 3,638 misdemeanors disposed by court trial, 4 percent of the total dispositions.

Circuit Court

The overall disposition to filing ratio for criminal cases was 0.88. The ratios were higher for felonies (0.89) and felony preliminaries (0.90); the ratio for misdemeanors was 0.87.

Just over 143,500 criminal cases were awaiting disposition when the year ended, a 14 percent increase over the 125,348 cases pending at the beginning of the year. The number of pending felony cases increased from 11,738 to 14,286, up 2,548 cases (22 percent). For felony preliminaries, the pending caseload grew by 3,553 (12 percent) to total 32,099 cases.

Two-thirds of the total pending criminal cases were misdemeanors. The number of misdemeanors awaiting disposition grew from 85,064 cases in July 1989 to 97,132 cases in June 1990, a change of more than 12,000 cases (14 percent).

Despite the overall growth in pending criminal caseloads, several counties and circuits achieved a reduction in all or part of their total criminal pending balances: 12 counties and 2 circuits disposed more total criminal cases than were filed, ending the year with fewer pending cases than when the year began; 24 counties and 4 circuits reduced the number of pending felony cases; 24 counties and 6 circuits reduced the balance of pending felony preliminaries; and 16 counties and 5 circuits achieved a reduction in the number of pending misdemeanor cases.

Traffic

State traffic caseloads declined for the third consecutive year and were at their lowest level since 1984. A total of 358,868 cases were filed, about 19,000 (5 percent) fewer than last year. Dispositions totaled 354,675 cases, 99 percent of the number filed. These figures do not include the more serious offenses such as driving while intoxicated, driving while suspended or revoked or leaving the scene of an accident. The more serious offenses are reflected in the misdemeanor and felony numbers, which have increased significantly over the past several years.

Seventy-three percent (260,258) of the traffic cases were disposed through a written guilty plea. In 18 percent (62,118) of the dispositions, the defendant pleaded guilty in court; a non-jury trial was conducted for 9,052 cases. Six percent (22,828) of the dispositions occurred through a dismissal of the charges.

The number of pending traffic cases stood at 159,396 by June 30, 1990, an increase of 4,193 cases (3 percent) for the year.

Ordinance

The ordinance caseload is comprised of ordinance cases which are initially filed in the Circuit Court and municipal cases certified to the Court for jury trial or transferred on application for a trial de novo.

A total of 51,797 ordinance cases were filed directly into the Circuit Court for hearing before an associate circuit judge. Included are ordinance violations of municipalities which have elected not to maintain a separate municipal court. Also included are county ordinance violations, the bulk of which arise out of St. Louis County. Ordinance filings in the Circuit Court show an upward trend, reflecting both an increase in the number of violations being prosecuted and in the number of municipalities which have turned to the Circuit Court for initial adjudication of local ordinance violations. This year's filings outnumber last year's total by 853 cases (2 percent).

Close to 4,400 municipal cases were transferred for trial de novo or jury trial. This number is down from the 4,900 such cases transferred last year, but is still the second largest number to date.

The courts disposed more than 55,000 ordinance cases including 51,015 cases initially filed and 3,987 transferred cases. A disposition to filing ratio of 0.98 was achieved for the first category. The ratio for municipal certifications and trials de novo was 0.91.

Seventy percent (35,467) of the cases initially filed in the Circuit Court were disposed by guilty plea while 29 percent (14,555) were dismissed. Dispositions by trial were up nearly 200 for cases heard in the first instance by an associate judge, from 746 dispositions in FY 1989 to 926 dispositions this year.

Approximately half of the municipal certifications and trials de novo (48 percent or 1,931 cases) were disposed by guilty plea. Another 39 percent (1,554 cases) were either dismissed by the prosecutor or by the court. More than 400 cases (10 percent of the total) were disposed by trial, with 21 cases disposed by jury and 382 cases disposed by court trial.

A total of 25,196 ordinance cases were pending at the end of the year. About 23,000 of these were cases filed directly into the Circuit Court. The pending caseload for this category of cases increased 4 percent from 22,114 cases pending at the beginning of the year. For municipal certifications and trials de novo, the pending caseload increased 21 percent (392 cases) to total 2,300 cases by year's end.

Juvenile

More juvenile cases were filed and disposed than ever before. New and supplementary cases filed totaled 22,039, an increase of 736 cases over the previous fiscal year. The court disposed 21,336 cases, surpassing the number disposed in 1989 by more than 1,100 cases.

The courts disposed 16,526 cases (77 percent) by hearing. This is an increase of 559 cases over the number disposed by hearing last year. A record 232 juveniles were certified to adult court, surpassing last year by 53 percent.

Forty-four percent of the petitions filed this year alleged violation of a state law or local ordinance. This percentage has gradually increased over the years, up from 41 percent last year, and 39 percent five years ago. Petitions of abuse and neglect also increased and comprised 30 percent of the case filings. This percentage is up from 27 percent the past two years. This year's growth in law and ordinance violations and abuse and neglect cases was offset somewhat by fewer status offenses and adoption cases.

Juvenile Divisions
Types of Allegations
FY 1990

The pending juvenile caseload grew 6 percent during the year to total 11,837 cases as of June 30. This figure reflects only those cases awaiting a dispositional order by the court. It does not include the juvenile cases for which an order has been entered and which remain under the court's jurisdiction.

Probate

DECEDENTS' ESTATES

Just over 8,400 decedents' estates were opened, an increase of 135 estates compared to FY 1989. Included in the number are 5,242 estates with supervised administration and 3,166 estates to be administered independently. While the number of decedents' estates has not changed greatly over the past several years, the proportion of independently administered estates has gradually increased. Thirty-eight percent of the estates filed this year are to have independent administration, compared with 36 percent last year, 32 percent three years ago and 24 percent in FY 1985.

A total of 8,279 decedents' estates were closed, comprised of 5,517 supervised and 2,762 independent estates. While overall, 98 estates were closed for every 100 opened, the dispositional pattern for supervised and independent estates differed significantly. The number of closings per 100 estate openings was 105 for supervised administration estates and 87 for independent administration estates.

The pending caseload for decedents' estates increased by less than 1 percent to total 16,670 by year's end.

ABBREVIATED MATTERS INVOLVING DECEDENTS' ESTATES

A total of 4,856 applications for orders refusing letters were processed; refusals of letters transfer a decedent's property to the spouse, unmarried minor children or a creditor. This year's number is at its lowest level ever, down 314 compared to last year. All of the decrease can be accounted for in the number of spouse/minor refusals, which declined to 2,827. In the past decade the proportion of spouse/minor refusal applications has gradually diminished, with creditor refusals contributing a greater share of the total. In 1982, 65 percent of the refusal applications involved spouses and minor children; the figure was 58 percent this year.

While the number of small estates affidavits also declined, there was a sizeable increase in the number of wills presented to the court for admission to probate. A total of 2,441 small estates affidavits were filed, down nearly 100 compared to FY 1989. These affidavits are used to transfer a decedent's property valued at $15,000 or less without appointment of a personal representative.

A total of 7,033 wills were admitted or rejected, up 220 over last year.

INCAPACITATED/DISABLED ESTATES

Figure 13

Incapacitated/Disabled Guardianships and Conservatorships Opened FY 1990

Total Opened
2,841

The courts appointed guardians and/or conservators for 2,841 incapacitated/disabled persons in FY 1990. This number compares to 2,775 guardians/conservators appointed last year. More than 70 percent of the appointments (2,017) were for individuals to oversee both the physical care and financial resources of persons adjudged incapacitated and disabled. One-fourth of the appointments (702) were for guardians only, individuals responsible for the physical well-being of an incapacitated person. Conservators only, charged with management of a disabled person's finances, were appointed in fewer than 5 percent (122) of the cases.

With 2,024 guardianships/conservatorships closed, the courts experienced a net increase of 817 cases over which jurisdiction is maintained. As of June 30, 1990, there were 17,924 open incapacitated/disabled estates under the courts' control.

MINORS' ESTATES

A total of 1,228 guardianships/ conservatorships were established over minors and their resources, up slightly compared to the 1,201 guardianships/ conservatorships opened the previous year. Forty-one percent (503) of the appointments were for conservators only and a guardian only was appointed in 37 percent (461) of the new cases. In 22 percent (264) of the openings both a guardian and conservator were appointed.

Just under 1,100 minor guardianships/ conservatorships were closed and 7,320 cases remained under the courts' jurisdiction when the year ended.

MENTAL HEALTH PROCEEDINGS

More than 5,600 applications for 96 hour detention involving alcohol/drug abusers and persons alleged to be mentally disordered were filed in the court. This number is almost 700 (14 percent) higher than in FY 1989.

The courts experienced a slight decrease in the number of petitions for 21 days, 30 days, 90 days or one year involuntary detention, treatment, and rehabilitation. This year's total of 2,167 petitions compares with 2,209 petitions filed last year.

Office of State Courts Administrator

As the administrative staff of the Supreme Court, the Office of State Courts Administrator fulfills the administrative obligations of the Supreme Court which are mandated under the judicial article and the statutes. Established in 1970 by constitutional amendment, the office provides a wide range of administrative and technical services to Missouri's judges and to clerks and other nonjudicial personnel. By delegation from the Supreme Court through Rule 82.03 and a series of administrative rules or directly by statute, the staff is now required to perform numerous duties.

Staff perform technical assistance, statistical analysis, financial system analysis, and continuing education functions. Staff members travel to courts on request from judges and clerks concerning case processing, financial record-keeping, records retention and destruction, statistical reporting, special projects, sound recording, and development of model systems. In FY 1990, staff visited over 90 court offices.

The State Courts Administrator's Office develops automated financial, record-keeping and case management systems for use on microcomputers in divisions of the Circuit Court. Support for these systems and assistance in purchasing and operating the necessary equipment are provided. Staff also develops and operates record-keeping and administrative systems for the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals.

In FY 1990, 1,350 judges and clerks attended training sessions coordinated by the State Courts Administrator's staff. These included the trial colleges for judges, payroll designee training, regional clerk training, training for the reporting of caseload information to the Statewide Judicial Information System (SWJIS), and a special program on adult abuse and child protection orders.

A central transcribing service prepares typed transcripts from sound recordings when needed for appeals or other purposes as required by statute. During FY 1990, 78,126 pages of original transcript were produced with a resulting income or savings to the state of $112,131.

The office assists in policy direction for the Statewide Judicial Information System. Data collected through the System is analyzed and used to respond to numerous requests including those from judges and clerks needing information for management purposes and local planners considering renovation, expansion or construction of court, detention, juvenile, and other facilities.

The office compiles the judiciary's annual budget and prepares estimates of the potential impact of proposed legislation on the state's courts. It processes the payroll for most judicial state employees and all other state expenditures of the Supreme Court Appropriation.

Staff provide professional and clerical support to numerous committees of the Supreme Court including the Circuit Court Budget Committee, the Court of Appeals Budget Committee, the Judicial Education Committee, the Presiding Judges' Executive Committee, and the State Judicial Records Committee.

The office serves the Circuit Court Budget Committee with ongoing desk audits of all positions in the Circuit Court Personnel System and recommendations for reclassifications and personnel changes. It also maintains a weighted workload system, an objective method for ranking offices based on relative need for additional staff.

The Office of State Courts Administrator processes requests for judge transfers and conducts certification courses for nonlawyer municipal judges.

It publishes the Missouri Judicial Report, the Presiding Judge's Newsletter, and a newsletter for state judicial personnel. It keeps current the Missouri Court Clerks Handbook, the Probate Clerks Handbook, the County Payroll Designee Handbook, and user's manuals for the Statewide Judicial Information System.

Clerk of the Supreme Court

The Clerk of the Supreme Court is responsible for a wide range of duties including the supervision of the internal administrative function of the court and the planning and administrative function of the Missouri Judicial Conference, the organization comprising all of the judges in the state. The Clerk's office carries out the day-to-day staff functions necessary to keep cases moving through the Supreme Court.

The Clerk oversees the Supreme Court Library. The library provides research services and materials not only to Supreme Court judges, law clerks and Clerk's office personnel, but also the General Assembly, state agencies, other courts, outstate lawyers, and the general public. The library contains over 110,000 volumes and also contains LEXIS and WESTLAW terminals which allow computer-aided legal research. This past fiscal year the library provided 1,686 hours of research assistance.

In addition, the library supervises the production of the Missouri Appellate Court Opinion Summary and Missouri Appellate Court Pending Issues Digest. A monthly summary of all Missouri appellate opinions (Missouri Appellate Court Opinion Summary) informs judges, prosecutors, public defenders, news media, and the public of the latest decisions by the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals. To inform judges and other interested persons of cases prior to opinion, an appellate case subject index has been developed (Missouri Appellate Court Pending Issues Digest). This digest facilitates the exchange of information about issues pending before the three districts of the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court.

The administrative duties include handling all inquiries and procedural requests from attorneys throughout the state, arranging the docketing of cases, maintaining files in each case before the court, receipting and dispersing fees related to those cases, and printing and distributing opinions of the court. The Clerk's office staffs the various rules and instructions committees of the Court. Additionally, the Supreme Court's security and maintenance activities are under the Clerk's supervision. The Clerk also provides administrative assistance to the State Board of Law Examiners. The staff supervises the work associated with the Missouri Bar examination, carrying out all physical aspects of administering the examination and conducting registration for swearing in new lawyers.

The marshal and his staff operate under the Clerk's direction. The marshal serves court orders, transports prisoners, provides security for the Court and directs maintenance and printing operations within the Supreme Court Building.

The staff counsel is charged with three primary responsibilities: processing capital murder cases, review of notices of appeals and transcripts and docketing of cases, and communication with judicial personnel and the public with regard to the Supreme Court's work. The staff counsel also initially reviews notices of appeals to see if jurisdiction lies in the Supreme Court and makes a recommendation to the Chief Justice. He is charged with coordinating the docketing of cases for oral arguments. He disseminates information about cases and the Court's work to members of the public generally and answers questions from the media about specific cases.

As the provider of administrative and staff assistance to the Missouri Judicial Conference, the Clerk appears before legislative committees to present the views of the Conference on legislation affecting the judiciary and to provide data and information on judicial operations as requested.

Definitions And Explanatory Notes

Chapter 517: Comparable to the associate civil case type reported in previous years. Included are civil cases in which the amount in dispute does not exceed $15,000; hardship driving; replevin; forcible entry and unlawful detainer; and landlord-tenant actions.

Civil Case: The unit of count is the petition. A single case may include multiple parties. Included in total civil cases are general civil, domestic relations, Chapter 517, and small claims cases.

Criminal Case: The unit of count is the complaint, information or indictment. A single case may include multiple defendants and/or charges. A case is not counted as disposed until all charges against all defendants have been disposed.

Included in total criminal cases are felonies, felony preliminaries, and misdemeanors. Traffic offenses are also a type of criminal cases. Municipal and county ordinance cases, which are quasi-criminal matters, are included in some tables.

Disposition to Filing Ratio: Compares the number of cases disposed with the number of cases filed during the year to give an indication of how well the court is keeping up with its workload. Ratios of 1.00 or greater indicate that the court disposed at least as many cases as were filed. Ratios greater than 1.00 mean the court disposed more cases than were filed during the year, thus achieving a reduction in its pending caseload. Ratios which are less than 1.00 indicate that the court disposed fewer cases that were filed and experienced an increase in its pending caseload.

This ratio is calculated by dividing the number of cases disposed by the number of cases filed.

DMH 128: An application to the probate division for detention, evaluation and treatment of a person alleged to be mentally disordered. Involuntary detention may not exceed 96 hours. Only initial applications are counted.

DMH 132: Notice of admission, initiated by a mental health coordinator or peace officer, of an involuntary patient to a mental health facility.

DMH 8525: An application to the probate division for detention, treatment and rehabilitation of a person alleged to abuse alcohol and/or drugs. Involuntary detention may not exceed 96 hours. Only initial applications are counted.

DMH 8529: Notice of admission, initiated by a mental health coordinator or peace officer, of an involuntary patient to an alcohol/drug abuse facility.

Domestic Relations: Includes dissolution of marriage; legal separation, annulment, separate maintenance; URESA; adult abuse; motions to modify; motions for contempt in domestic relations cases; contested actions involving administrative orders of the Department of Social Services; child protection orders; paternity; writs of habeas corpus in child custody cases; registrations of foreign domestic relations judgments; and miscellaneous domestic relations cases.

Felony: Includes felony cases which were reduced to misdemeanors.

Felony Preliminary: Includes felony complaints which were reduced to misdemeanors and disposed in the associate divisions.

General Civil: Comparable to the circuit civil case type reported in previous years. Among the specific actions included are civil cases involving amounts over $15,000; Chapter 517, RSMo, and small claims trials de novo; administrative review cases; condemnations; extraordinary remedy cases, such as habeas corpus and injunctions; change of name cases; registrations of foreign judgment; tax actions; and motions for post-conviction relief (Supreme Court Rules 24.035 and 29.15).

Juvenile: Includes both new cases and supplementary filings, additional petitions or motions to modify filed under an existing case number after a disposition has been rendered on the original petition. For statistical purposes, a juvenile case is considered disposed when a determination of the facts in the petition has been concluded and an order has been entered. The case file may remain open while the child is under the jurisdiction of the court.

The unit of count is the petition. More than one child as well as multiple allegations involving one juvenile may be included in one petition. Referrals to the juvenile officer or to the juvenile court in which no petition is filed are not included.

Juveniles are individuals under 17 years of age.

Mental Health Petition: Petition for 21 days, 30 days, 90 days or one-year involuntary detention, treatment or rehabilitation for a mental disorder or abuse of alcohol and/or drugs.

Misdemeanor: Includes cases originally filed in either the circuit or associate division of the Circuit Court. A request for jury trial may or may not result in the case being certified from the associate to the circuit division, depending on local practice. Non-traffic infractions are included in the misdemeanor count.

Ordinance: Municipal ordinance violation cases in which the municipality has elected to have its ordinance cases heard and determined by an associate circuit judge. Only those cases for which clerical support is provided by the state are included. Ordinance cases heard by an associate judge at a location staffed by the municipality are not included.

The ordinance category also includes violations of county ordinances.

Pending: Pending end figures reported for one year may not equal the pending beginning figures for the next year due to pending audits conducted by the court.

Pending to Disposition Ratio: Compares the number of cases pending with the number of cases disposed. The ratio provides an estimate of the number of years that would be required to dispose all pending cases if these cases were disposed at the same rate and by the same manners of disposition as the cases disposed during the year.

Ratios of 1.00 or greater indicate that at least one year would be needed to dispose all pending cases. Ratios of less than 1.00 indicate that the pending caseload could be eliminated in under one year. For example, a ratio of 0.50 means that approximately a half year would be required to dispose all pending cases.

The pending to disposition ratio is calculated by dividing the number of cases pending at the end of the year by the number of cases disposed.

Probate: Total cases includes decedents' estates; minors' guardianships and conservatorships; incapacitated/disabled persons' guardianships and conservatorships; and mental health petitions.

Small Claims: Jurisdictional limit was raised from $1,000 to $1,500, effective August 1988. Small claims' trials de novo are General Civil cases.

Traffic: State traffic offenses. Does not include the more serious traffic violations, such as driving while intoxicated, leaving the scene of an accident or driving while license is suspended or revoked. These cases are reflected in the numbers of misdemeanors, felonies, and felony preliminary cases.

DATA SOURCES AND NOTES

Caseload figures contained in the following tables are based on information provided to the Office of State Courts Administrator by the Supreme Court, Court of Appeals and Circuit Court.

Population data was supplied by the Bureau of the Census and the Missouri Office of Administration, Division of Budget and Planning. The Census data is preliminary 1990.

The disposition to filing ratio included in many of the tables compares the number of cases disposed with the number of cases filed during the year to give an indication of how well the court is keeping pace with its workload.

Ratios of 1.00 or greater indicate that the court disposed at least as many cases as were filed. Ratios greater than 1.00 mean the court disposed more cases than were filed during the year, thus achieving a reduction in its pending caseload. Ratios which are less than 1.00 indicate that the court disposed fewer cases than were filed and experienced an increase in its pending caseload.

This ratio is calculated by dividing the number of cases disposed by the number of cases filed.

The pending to disposition ratio compares the number of cases pending with the number of cases disposed. The ratio provides an estimate of the number of years that would be required to dispose all pending cases if these cases were disposed at the same rate and by the same manners of disposition as the cases disposed during the year.

Ratios of 1.00 or greater indicate that the court has at least as many cases to be disposed as were disposed during the year. Ratios which are less than 1.00 indicate that the court disposed more cases during the year than remained pending at the end of the year.

This ratio is calculated by dividing the number of cases pending at the end of the year by the number of cases disposed.
